

We are the Garment Makers

Commissioned and anointed to clothe a generation, to cover our world with garments of love, hope, and truth. We do not make garments with wool and flax; our materials are The Word and faith. Our thread is not cotton and twine; it is the devotion of our prayers and time. The fabric we are crafting is not temporal linen nor silk but eternal garments of legacy and strength. We do not weave or spin these garments together but with worship and surrender, and God Himself is the pattern creator. We are the garment makers, an army of spiritual seamstresses, untangling lies and revealing truth. The garments we make are not for vanity but for the displaying of His glory. We are the garment makers clothed in strength and dignity and now assigned to take our place in this garment making story.
